

RACHEL VAN DER NACHT

WOMANIFESTO

Rachel van der Nacht is a French visual artist and creative director based in New York. Her art has been exhibited in Paris, Berlin, and NYC.

Her creations aim to echo her personal journeys and emotional experiences. With North African roots influencing her deeply, she expresses the duality existing everywhere in life, and that is both difficult and uplifting.

Her work explores harmonious discord and reconciles opposing themes such as happiness vs. sadness or punk vs. traditional. These influences are depicted as cohesive and true representations of reality, that can and actually always coexist.

By challenging the idea of opposition and asking people to see everything as connected, her pieces offer a different angle on life. Art that acknowledges both good and bad, and twists them into a singular new sentiment — all-together. Think a cactus offering free hugs or two boxers hugging instead of fighting.

This idea manifests itself visually in her creations through colorful and metallic acrylic paintings whose bright hues amplify the dark, topical sentiments at their core. Beyond this bold color palette, she contrasts the chaos of life against the structure of square frames.

"I try to be real. It is such a subjective thing, but I try to convey an emotion. I am a fan of light and dark at the same time. The magic to me is when there are lots of things going on at the same time. It feels more sincere."

She finds beauty, humor, and poetry underneath the sadness present in life. Whether it's impossible love, social barriers, a global pandemic, depression, or loneliness, her style flips expected interpretations and focuses on visual delight and smart commentary on emotions we all experience.

WHAT IS LOVE?

Is it a mix of admiration, desire, respect, trust, tenderness, and mystery? Do we truly fall in love with people, or with the idea of them? Do we truly ever know someone? Can love last forever? Or survive a global pandemic? How do our childhood and personal journey reflect on our relationships? Is there an eternal pattern we tend to follow? Do we love the pain, or are we looking for what we think we deserve? At the end of the day, aren't we all looking for someone who understands and knows us completely? Someone who is moved by our vulnerability and can handle our dark side? Someone who still loves us, no matter what? So many questions, so many artworks...
